

PERCEIVED COMFORT OF HOME ENVIRONMENT AND SOCIAL
ADJUSTMENT OF SECONDARY SCHOOL STUDENTS IN MALAPPURAM DISTRICT.

Name of student : RAJEENA. P. M
Name of supervising Teacher : ABDUL HAMEED MUKTHAR MAHAL
Year of study : 2006

OBJECTIVES

To find out if there exists any significant relationship between Perceived comfort of home environment and social adjustment of secondary school students.

METHODOLOGY

Method used : Survey method
Sample : 600secondary school students of standard IX
Tool : Scale of Perceived comfort of home environment, Social Adjustment Scale
Statistical Techniques : coefficient of correlation, t-test , three way ANOVA

RESULT

There exists substantial relationship between Perceived comfort of home environment and social adjustment of secondary school students in the total sample and subsample based on Gender and Type of management.

KEY TERMS: Perceived comfort of home environment, social adjustment