

PROSOCIAL BEHAVIOUR OF HIGHERSECONDARY SCHOOL STUDENTS AND UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS

Name of the student : Sharun P.B.

Name of the supervising teacher : Dr. Afeef Thathravattath

Year of the study : 2019

OBJECTIVES

- To study extent of prosocial behavior of higher secondary students.
- To study extent of prosocial behavior of undergraduate students.

METHODOLOGY

Method used : Survey method

Sample : 350 higher secondary school students and 350 undergraduate students

Tool : Prosocial behaviour Assessment Scale.

Statistical techniques : Test of Significant of Difference between Means (t-test),

RESULT

- There exist significant difference in the mean scores of prosocial behaviour between male and female higher secondary students at 0.01 level ( $t=2.96$ ).
- There exist significant difference in the mean scores of prosocial behaviour between government and aided undergraduate students at 0.01 level ( $t=6.409$ ).

KEY TERMS: Prosocial behavior.